

Innovation methods in potato production

The aim of the project of the Association Akhalkalaki Potato (AAP) is to raise awareness for modern methods of potato production in Akhalkalaki and Ninotsminda municipalities. During the first stage of the project trainings with the target group will be conducted. Besides, a manual for potato production and 10 information videos will be created, with the aim to better spread the information among the community members.